In the past, clients were required to open their RAW files one by one in a multitude of powerful RAW processors before they could be brought into the document, and, some even made use of an Apple II with this stated goal. Lightroom 5 comes bundled with the ACES Standard Color Engine, providing five different cameras' color spaces, which include Adobe RGB, Apple ProPhoto RGB, sRGB, Adobe RGB and Adobe Wide Gamut. This removes the problem of having to convert RAW files into any previously existing IT8 or ProPhoto RGB file. The files are now open to anyone, and not just clients.
