Busy day for family courts For the first time in 50 years a family court has been placed in the prestigious Royal Courts of Justice in central London. From today, the Royal Courts will be doing justice to five family courts around the UK, the Supreme Court, the High Court, Circuit and Family Court. The High Court of Justice, Family Division is the court of record for England and Wales and the Supreme Court of Judicature of Northern Ireland. Lord Justice Calvert told BBC Breakfast that the five courts are being transferred from the High Court in London to the Royal Courts of Justice at the heart of the capital. He said: 'There are family courts in the north west, in Leeds, in Cardiff, in Blackburn, we have two in Liverpool. Now we will have five in London. 'It's a big change, it's a big task for the courts, it's a big change, it will create different challenges to do justice for families. 'A lot of time has been taken up with picking up, packing up, building new family court chambers, bringing in more lawyers, bringing in more work, more staff, it's going to be a massive change.'TLR9 provides an adequate protective function to lead to a close relationship between influenza and asthma. The aim of this study was to investigate the role of TLR9 in influenza virus-induced airway inflammatory responses. A mouse model of influenza was developed to investigate the role of TLR9 in airway inflammation. C57BL/6 and TLR9-deficient (Tlr9^{-/-}) mice were exposed to influenza virus in vivo or in vitro and then the airway inflammatory responses were measured. TLR9 expression in human lung tissues was measured using real-time PCR. TLR9-deficient mice showed greatly diminished airway hyperresponsiveness (AHR) to methacholine (Mch). In addition, TLR9^{-/-} mice had a remarkable decrease in the levels of IL-4, IL-5, IL-13 and airway eosinophilia induced by influenza virus infection compared with C57BL/6 mice. The viral load of TLR9^{-/-} mice was also significantly lower than that of C
