What's New in the?

The FreeMem program will show the amount of free memory and how much free pagefile memory you have. It will help you to free memory by clearing this information, but it can't do anything about the pagefile. So if you are having problems with your computer getting slower and/or using more CPU then it's probably time to clean up the pagefile. You can free up more memory under Windows 95/98/ME by using the BIOS Memory Test, changing your Power Plan to Low Power, or reducing the value of your Hard Disk's buffer. You can free up more memory under Windows 95/98/ME by using the BIOS Memory Test, changing your Power Plan to Low Power, or reducing the value of your Hard Disk's buffer. - show a small menu where you can open/close the application- show your BIOS Screen (F8 on old systems)- show the current memory value and the amount of free memory and the amount of free pagefile- change the memory value and hit Enter- show how much memory you have free (in kilo, Mio and Gb)- show the memory status in a new tab- show the current pagefile and the amount of free space- change the pagefile value and hit Enter- show the current pagefile status (Free/Used) These features are the simplest I have ever found. Show free memory can be a very useful tool when you are having a memory leak problem. The program does not provide support for password protected operating systems. The maximum amount of free memory can be configured from within the main program. The maximum amount of free memory can be configured from within the main program. Download: You can download the latest version of FreeMem from There is a lot of memory on your computer. You should use the "FreeMem" program to see how much memory you have on your computer. There is a lot of memory on your computer. You should use the "FreeMem" program to see how much memory you have on your computer. I suggest you download "FreeMem" and use it a few times to see how it works. If you find it annoying then uninstall it. Don't download the free version because it has an annoying little box that pops up everytime you start the program. You can download the latest version of FreeMem from
